TSB REVIEW 1984

The TSB Review 1984 is the third all craft exhibition of this annual event. Total number of entries was down on previous craft reviews and this is disappointing. However, this could possibly reflect an appreciation by craftspeople of the standard expected for the exhibition now known as the TSB Review.

GOVETT-BREWSTER ART GALLERY

NEW PLYMOUTH

As in the past, the process was careful, considered and tough. The criteria for selection was simply quality of function, design, technical skill and aesthetics. Generally, technical expertise was the strongest factor in most work, reflecting the overall level of competence. Design quality - originality, imagination and creativity - was the weakest. This, in turn, reflects the local need for considerably more formal tuition in basic design skills and appreciation.

To be harsh, few works in the exhibition could be described as "works of art" simply because they do not embody in equal proportion the four criteria of selection. But where these qualities are apparent, they are worthy of recognition. To this end, the works either received one of the three major awards or earned the distinction of a special merit classification.

Once again, this exhibition would not be possible without the generous sponsorship of the Taranaki Savings Bank. In fact, the TSB has been an active supporter of the Govett-Brewster Art Gallery and its functions for some 15 years.

We sincerely thank our sponsors for this continued interest and involvement in the arts of Taranaki.
